Overview

From environmental obligations and tenement management to understanding your financial commitments and stakeholder needs, tracking your responsibilities and stakeholder communication means protecting your reputation and maintaining your license to operate.

INX InForm centralises the way you manage company obligations. Assign tasks to responsible people and use verifiers with escalation roles to give clarity and ensure critical obligations are met.

Our intelligent software also captures communications across emails, phone calls and social media to ensure you understand how your organisation manages and engages with your stakeholders including communities, investors and employees.

Features

- Centralised obligation, condition and tenement register in a single, powerful solution
- Quickly assign responsibility to your important tasks
- Clear and tracked stakeholder communications with our Microsoft Outlook integration
- Intuitive reporting and dashboarding capabilities

Centralised obligation management

Maintaining continuity and operational efficiency through INX Inform helps ensure that your compliance tasks remain organised and up to date.

Create a centralised register in INX InForm of your company's most critical obligations and ensure they're not forgotten about when staff movements occur, or other priority projects are present.

Assign responsibility to important tasks

With INX InForm, you can assign responsible persons to tasks and choose whether the tasks need to be verified.

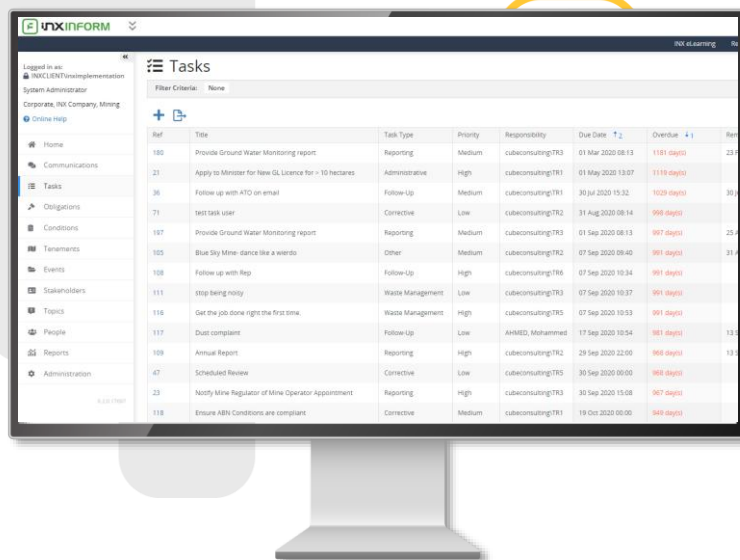

Our powerful solution also makes it easy to apply task recurrence through a flexible engine, including setting up rules for notifications and escalations to ensure tasks are being completed on time.

Comprehensive communication and sentiment tracking

How you communicate with your stakeholders and the means of tracking that communication is just as important as what you say. An ineffective sentiment-tracking tool might mean missing the critical insights that could improve your business.

Our intuitive software captures communications and sentiment across emails, phone calls and social media to ensure you understand how your organisation manages and engages with key stakeholders.

INX InForm integrates directly into Microsoft Outlook™ with the INX InForm Outlook Plugin Tool and ensures your stakeholder communication history is preserved, even during role turnovers.

Streamline your workflow with priority grading and task visibility

Managing and prioritising the right tasks can be complex and tedious, with the potential for your critical tasks to slip through the cracks during your busiest days.

We've designed a priority grading system to help your team focus on the tasks that matter, including configurable email notifications and escalations based on task priority.

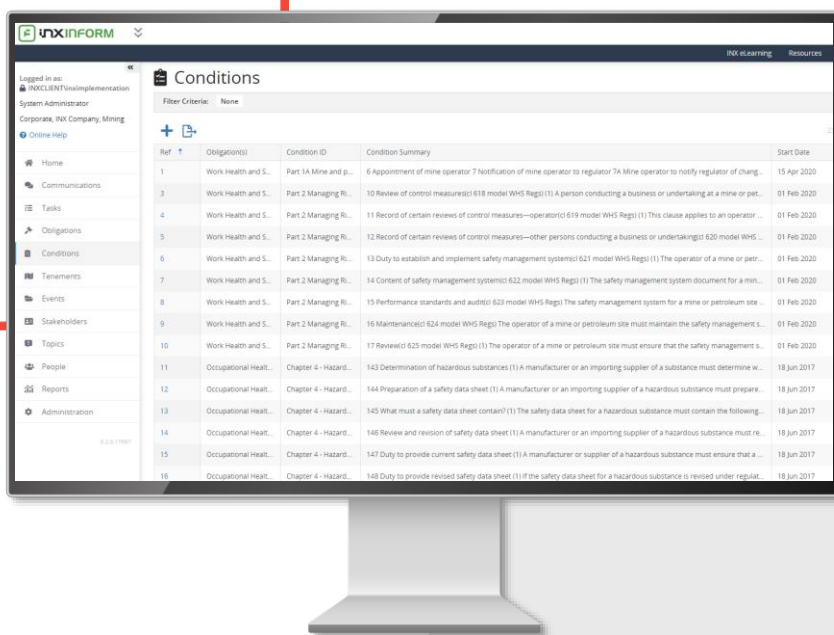

Through our built-in dashboarding and reporting tools, INX InForm provides complete visibility of your upcoming, completed and overdue tasks — giving you more insight into your stakeholder communication.

Integrations for enhanced obligation management

Enhance your obligation management with a solution that seamlessly integrates with our powerful suite.

INX InForm synchronises user profiles created within INX InControl, INX InFlight, INX InHealth and INX InTuition, saving your administration team time so they can focus on their more crucial tasks. The same users can also be assigned roles directly from within our integrated solution, providing your administrators with the ability to complete this responsibility without needing to switch between platforms. Additionally, all competencies, compliances and procedures (CCPs) added into INX InTuition are also reflected in these person profiles.

Our INX InControl integration takes functionality to the next level, allowing users to seamlessly send events from our robust WHS solution to INX InForm and establish a two-way sync to share obligation conditions effortlessly.
